Bolivar County Jail Broken.

Judge Davis Buckner, who returned from Florence yesterday, informs us that seven prisoners escaped from the jail at that place on Thursday. They took with them a Spencer rifle, a double barrel shotgun and a five-shooter pistol. Amongst those who got away were Jasper Lewis, who had been sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary for murder, Aleck Gibson, who owes two years for horse stealing, Dan Davis, in for three years for assault with intent to kill. A man escaped with the name Judge Buckner did not learn but as he was in for nest-bidding, we reckon his name was Beecher. There were three prisoners who refused to go. The jail at Florence is not worth a cuss; and notwithstanding Sheriff Bruce uses every precaution, visiting the jail every night, and at all hours of the night, to see that the guards do their duty, still detention of prisoners in such a place is impossible. Colonel Bruce is such a good-hearted man, and feeds his prisoners so bountifully, that they are always in fine order for traveling when they get ready to go. If the Bolivar Board of Supervisors would get N. B. Johnson to build them a jail, they would save money and prisoners would not escape.

On our fourth page will be found some of the liveliest reading of the season, in the shape of a list of lands delinquent for taxes.

What tempting inducements to emigrants such documents hold out. People in the North will of course break their necks to get to a country where the taxes on land are more than its assessed value. It is so encouraging, you know, to emigrants, these tax lists with which all Southern planters are filled. It is such noble devotion to the State—the surrendering by the citizen of his land—giving his property to the commonwealth—that must make the Southern States sought for and fought for by men who live in States where the land-owner has something left after paying his taxes. Oh, yes, "Land of the South, imperial land," if you ain't gone up for taxes I'll be d—d!

At its last session, upon the certificate of the Circuit Court, the Board of Supervisors ordered $1645 in warrants to be issued to the Sheriff for feeding prisoners, for past three months, we suppose, as over $5000 was issued for same purpose last July.

If this sort of thing continues, it would have been much preferable not to have built the new jail; in which the prisoners now comfortably lie, without a regret for lost freedom.

The streets have been pretty well filled with cotton planters to-day, and traffic in the staple and dry goods and groceries has been quite brisk.

Amongst the list of delegates to the "Chattanooga Southern Outrage Convention," we see recorded the names of United States Senator Bruce and Hon. Matt. B. Sullivan, of Bolivar county, Mississippi. Neither of these gentlemen attended the convention, nor would they have touched it with a forty-foot pole. Bruce and Matt don't train in the same crowd with Clayton and Moses. Senator Bruce expects to receive in Washington City, as he has everywhere else, the respect of all classes of people, and that Chattanooga society was entirely out of his line. When you find the names of B. K. Bruce and Matt. Sullivan associated with such bucks as Moses and Clayton you can bet your life that Matt. and Bruce know nothing of it.

It may gratify unsuccessful suitors to know that they can get five "Sweethearts" for five cents at Goldsmith's.

New Orleans, Oct. 20.—A compromise has been effected in Jefferson parish between the Conservatives and Republicans. No More Credit.

We record it with sorrow, we write it with pain; 'tis a dirge sad and solemn as funeral strain, but LANDAU & SPINGARN in their wrath they have said it, that from hence and forever no more will they credit. Their beautiful store house is filled with a splendid assortment of new goods, elegantly arranged on the shelves, but alas! for bums who buy on tick, they have no department where it is written: "Buy to-day and owe to-morrow, and bring the merchant's heart to sorrow." No more of that, brethren. Landau says he will sell his goods so low but the United States money must come down on the counter before the goods leave the house. In the elegant language of a German, "Dat is petter as goot." Now, brother Landau, will you stand flat-footed on this platform and say: "Come weal, come wraek. Credit here shall leave no track." It will take some grit to stand up to a no-credit resolution, but it will be better for buyer and seller if all our merchants will follow Landau's example.
